IN FOCUS: DATA4COVID19 Africa Challenge

National public health institutes (NPHI) have a critical role to play in ensuring the health security of countries. This includes the prevention, detection, response and control of infectious disease outbreaks and public health emergencies. As Nigeria's NPHI, the Nigeria Centre for Disease Control (NCDC) prioritises workforce development to deliver its mandate. This includes the use of data and scientific evidence to inform outbreak response, policy and decision-making.

The NCDC in collaboration with the College of Medicine, University of Lagos is one of seven awardees selected as part of the Data4COVID19 Africa Challenge. The challenge is a project initiated by l'Agence française de développement (AFD), Expertise France and The GovLab to support and strengthen the use of data for the COVID-19 response in Africa. The approved project will focus on "Understanding facilitators and barriers to compliance with non-pharmaceutical COVID-19 preventive measures in Nigeria". This was selected out of over 80 proposals received from 22 African countries.

The six-month project will use existing data to assess the social, economic, and political factors that influence individual knowledge and perception of COVID-19 among Nigerians amongst other key variables.

The lessons from previous outbreaks such as Ebola, have proven valuable in responding to and effectively managing outbreaks in Nigeria - particularly the need for real-time data. Therefore, findings from this project will also enhance the response to COVID-19 not only in Nigeria but improve understanding of the COVID-19 situation in Africa and contribute to global preparedness for future outbreaks.

RESPONSE

On 28th February 2020, a multi-sectoral Emergency Operations Centre (EOC) was activated at Level 3 which is the highest emergency level in Nigeria.
