IN FOCUS: The Use of Face Masks for COVID-19 Control

As countries continue to record cases of coronavirus disease (COVID-19), adherence to recommended public health and social measures is critical to limiting its spread. In public places, especially indoors, there is increased contact between individuals, frequently touched surfaces and shared items that may be contaminated with droplets from an infected person. Wearing a mask that covers the nose, mouth and chin helps reduce the chance of contact with the COVID-19 virus.

The Presidential Steering Committee on COVID-19 (PSC) recommends wearing a face mask at offices, religious centres, while onboard public transportation, and for those over the age of 60 or who are ill. This is to be observed in addition to other non-pharmaceutical interventions such as hand washing, the use of hand sanitiser, physical distancing and ventilation of indoor spaces.

Disposable and cloth face masks must be used and handled properly to protect against COVID-19. For effective use of masks, it is essential to wash or sanitise the hands before putting the mask on, before and after removal, and after touching it at any time. For more advice on the use, storage, cleaning and disposal of masks, read Advisory on the Use of Face Masks by Members of the Public

The Nigeria Centre for Disease Control and Prevention (NCDC), ministries, departments and agencies, and partners are committed to educating the public on preventive measures and providing the necessary resources to curb the spread of COVID-19. We call on State Ministries of Health to invest in the health of its citizens by promoting the use of face masks and making masks and other PPE available to health workers, civil servants and the general public.

The mask mandate was put in place as a measure to protect our health and those around us from COVID-19. This is especially important for the elderly and those with underlying conditions who are at risk of complications due to COVID-19. We urge the public to continue to adhere to measures put in place by public health authorities as they work to control the outbreak and prevent future ones.
